

A Sad Thanksgiving.

The news of the death of Vice President Hendricks reached this city Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, but it did not become generally known until yesterday morning. The news was so startling that it was not believed until private telegrams were received corroborating the report caught from the wires. The news was received with genuine regret, and expressions of sorrow were heard on every hand. It was indeed a sad coincidence that the news of the great national calamity should be received upon the day set apart for thanksgiving. The political effects are of course being discussed on every hand. There is neither a pro tempore Speaker of the Senate, nor a Speaker of the House and if President Cleveland should before Congress meets on Dec. 6, there would be no one in the line of Presidential succession. When the Senate meets the Speaker will be elected by the Republicans who would become President in the event of Mr. Cleveland's death. An opportunity is therefore afforded for Jno. A. Logan to become acting Vice President, in spite of his defeat. Whether the Republicans will elect Logan or again choose Edmunds to the position, remains to be seen.

The President has completed his message.

J. H. Archera, postmaster at Paducah, has resigned.

The Prohibition vote in New York has increased in five years from 1,517 to 8,866.

Subscriptions to the Galveston relief fund have already reached the handsome figure of $106,000.

A case of genuine yellow fever was reported from New York Monday. The man recently arrived from the West Indies.

King Milan, of Servia, is only 31 years old and has been on the throne ever since he was 18. He succeeded his father, who was assassinated.

Another New York Collector of Internal Revenue has been appointed, leaving only three Republican Collectors in office.

Cleveland received 61,630 more votes in New York State last year than Hill received this year. The total falling off in the vote this year was 14,174.

Small-pox still exists in Montreal and a dozen more deaths are reported every day. There have been during the last four weeks 764 deaths and the death rate is now rapidly decreasing.

The Sour Mash Distilling Co., of Owensboro, has sued the Standard Distilling Co., of Cincinnati for using its trade mark on inferior whisky, $50,000 damages and an injunction are asked for.

Hardly has Spain gotten rid of the deadly visitation of cholera, which has raged to such a fearful extent this year, before she begins to be shaken up by earthquakes. Severe shocks were felt in several provinces Monday.

There are 3,000 postoffices filled by women and the Postoffice department finds it rather embarrassing to remove them to make places for men. They cannot be charged with "offensive partisanship," in fact most of them are ready to change their policies, if they have any, in order to hold their places. The result is that most of them will be allowed to serve out their terms.

A list of 516 Democrats who voted for Reeves in the Butler county convention and 200 who did not vote at all has been published in the papers of the Fifth judicial district where the Reeves-Rodes muddle has been the absorbing topic of interest. As there are only 1,000 Democratic voters in Butler county, this leaves no room for further cavil and proves beyond question that the nominee was the choice of that county and the district. Now let all good Democrats in the district go to work to elect the party nominee.

The Frankfort Capital for the purposes of arriving, by free discussion, at the full understanding of State affairs, and in order to point the way to such remedial measures as may be needed, solicits answers to the following questions:

1. What are your views on the subjects of an appointive judiciary?

2. What are your views on the subject of a sovereignty convention for the proposal of adopting a new constitution?

3. How should pauper idiots of Kentucky be supported?

4. What are your views on the jury question?

5. What reforms do you suggest in the revenue system?

6. What are your views on the subject of local legislation?

7. Do you favor national aid to State education?

8. What plan do you suggest for the best development of the State's resources?

9. What do you suggest as the proper disposition of convict labor?

10. What are your views on the subject of a State board of Equalization?

11. Do you favor the enactment of a whipping-post law?

"COUNTED OUT."

Vice President Hendricks Dies Wednesday.

HIS DEATH VERY SUDDEN AND THE NEWS RECEIVED EVERYWHERE WITH REGRET.

A Chance for Logan to be Elected Acting Vice President.

robust man, and was subject to frequent "bad spells," as he called them, during which he would be prostrated sometimes for days at a time.

His domestic relations were of the most pleasant character and Mrs. Hendricks, who is a brilliant and accomplished woman, was of great aid to him in his political career, as she had large and varied information and excellent judgment, besides being greatly ambitious for her husband's political advancement. Since her husband's serious attack two years ago both of them have been apprehensive of a sudden end of his life, and the attachment between them has grown very strong, almost sentimentally so. So intense had this become in fact, that he would not consent for his wife to be away from him for a length of time. Only last week, while in Chicago, he accompanied Mrs. Hendricks even on her shopping expeditions. They had frequently talked over his condition and the probabilities of his early death, and it is evident that for several months past, there has been a growing fear of this kind on his mind.

Mr. Hendricks has no near relatives except a brother who lives in Shellyville, Ind., and a sister, the wife of Dr. Winslow S. Pierce, of New York. He owns considerable property in this city, but his entire fortune is estimated to be no more than $100,000, the greater part of which he earned by practice of his profession. It is known here that his intention was to abandon politics at the end of his term as Vice President. Only a few days ago, in a confidential talk with a friend, he said: "The newspapers say I am a candidate for President in 1888, but it is not true. I shall not be a candidate under any circumstances. I was not a candidate for the position I now hold, but it was and now my political ambition is fully satisfied. I want to retire and rest for the remainder of my life." Tonight at an informal meeting of the leading citizens, a committee of five with Senator Harrison as chairman, was appointed to arrange for a public meeting to be held here, probably on Saturday, to take such action as seems appropriate. The intention is to make it a meeting of citizens of the State generally, with addresses by representative men.

The funeral will probably be Monday, and not later than Wednesday.

A GLOOM OVER THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The announcement of the death of Vice-President Hendricks has cast a deep gloom over the capital. Mr. Hendricks' health had improved so much during the last year or two that his friends looked to his continuance in public life for many more years and the news of his sudden death came with a shock. The first news of the sad occurrence was an Associated Press bulletin from Indianapolis. The President and the members of the Cabinet were informed at once and the President immediately called a meeting of the Cabinet to take suitable action. The meeting was attended by all the members except Secretary Manning and Attorney General Garland. It was decided that the President and the members of the Cabinet should attend the funeral. When the Cabinet adjourned the President issued the following:

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Nov. 25, 1885.—To the people of the United States: Thomas A. Hendricks, Vice President of the United States, died to-day at 5 o'clock, at Indianapolis, and it becomes my mournful duty to announce the distressing fact to his fellow-citizens. In respect to the memory and the eminent and varied services of this high official and patriotic public servant, whose long career was so full of usefulness and honor to his State and the United States, it is ordered that the national flag be displayed at half-mast upon all the public buildings of the United States, that the Executive Mansion and the several executive departments in the City of Washington be closed on the day of the funeral, and be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days that the usual and appropriate military and naval honors be rendered, and that on all the legation and consulates of the United States in foreign countries the national flag shall be displayed at half-mast on the reception of this order, and the usual emblems of mourning be adopted for thirty days.

"GROVER CLEVELAND.

"By the President:

T. F. BAYARD,

"Secretary of State."

The following was sent to the Secretary of the Senate:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—To the Hon. A. S. McCook, Secretary of the Senate: I am directed by the President to inform you that he has received intelligence of the death of Hon. Thos. A. Hendricks, Vice President of the United States, and to convey to him his suggestion that you take immediate steps in conjunction with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, to secure a proper attendance of representatives of Congress at the funeral of the deceased. Very respectfully,

DANIEL S. LAMONT,

"Private Secretary."

The President was just sitting down to dinner when the following was handed him:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 25.—To President Cleveland: Vice President Hendricks died suddenly this afternoon. Disease, probable, paralysis.

W. H. ENGLISH.

He was greatly shocked at the news it contained, and immediately sent the following telegram to Mrs. Hendricks:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Nov. 25, 1885.—Mrs. T. A. Hendricks, Indianapolis, Ind.: The sudden and lamented death of your husband excites my profound sympathy for you in this hour of your great bereavement, and I sincerely mourn the decease of one so lately associated with me in the execution of the people's highest trust, while the nation mourns the loss of an honored citizen and a faithful public servant.

"GROVER CLEVELAND."

The work of draping the White House and the various departments will begin to-morrow morning. A large force of workmen has been engaged for the purpose.

Mr. Hendricks died in his private chamber, a large, comfortable room, in which he did the most of his work. Near his bedside was a case containing legal and political works, and on his desk were his papers, memoranda and a large number of letters, which had been allowed to accumulate without answering in the last two or three days.

Dr. Thompson says that in his opinion Mr. Hendricks died of paralysis of the brain, and there will probably be a post mortem examination to establish what the disease was.

For several years he had not been a

We heartily congratulate the groom upon gaining for his bride such an attractive and accomplished young lady.
